Traffic Safety (FACTS)

Families Acting for Community Capitol Leadership

FCCLA opportunities that

Retailing representative or buyer

Consumer credit counselor

Recreation worker

Personal or home care aide

Social services worker

Sociologist

Preschool teacher

Director of childcare facility

Possible careers:

Care, and consumer services.

What it is:

HUMAN SERVICES HOSPITALITY AND TOURISM

Individuals in community and social service occupations—

Varying levels of postsecondary education are required

Jobs in community human services—

than $39,000 per year, while skincare specialists earn earn, on average, almost $44,000, which is higher than

Varying levels of postsecondary education are required in personal care occupations.

Typically hold a master's degree. Licenses are often required in personal care occupations.

Workers—are projected to grow 14 percent from 2016 to

The most in-demand personal care and service occupations such as fitness professionals, massage therapists, personal shoppers, and childcare providers are expected to experience job growth of 31 percent.

Data suggests that individuals who are early-career professionals in personal care and service occupations are significantly less likely to leave the industry after the first year in comparison to other occupations.

To what extent are students and parents considering these pathways in career investigation?

Career clusters for which these pathways exist.

Preparing individuals for a career in a field such as health and wellness.

Real World Skills Through FACS Education

Student Body

Community Service

Financial Fitness

National Programs in Action

Job Interview

Illustrated Talk

Focus on Children

Digital Stories for Change

Career Investigation

Chapter Service Project

These STAR Events:

• Individuals in community and social service occupations

• Meeting planners and food service and lodging managers can earn more

• By 2027, 1.1 to 1.6 million new

• By 2025, schools are expected to hire at least

• Annually, 30,000 students surveyed by Family, Community and Career Leaders of America (FCCLA) report the development of

• 90 percent of restaurant managers, report that their first

• You must earn a professional license to teach. Licensure requirements are set on a

• Many positions have additional benefits

• Vary widely by institution and instructor type.

• For example, teachers in special education earn between $32,000 and $53,000. Experienced fashion merchandising managers typically have bachelor's degrees.

• Fashion merchandising managers can launch their careers

• Increasing retail sales contribute to the need for

• In addition, in

• Varying levels of postsecondary education are required in food and beverage occupations.

• Restaurant, food service, lounge, and casino, coffee shop, or catering

• By 2026.  In addition, in

• 90 percent of restaurant managers, report that their first

• For example, teachers in special education earn between $32,000 and $53,000. Experienced fashion merchandising managers typically have bachelor's degrees.

• By 2026, 1.1 to 1.6 million new

• By 2025, schools are expected to hire at least

• For example, teachers in special education earn between $32,000 and $53,000. Experienced fashion merchandising managers typically have bachelor's degrees.

• Many positions have additional benefits

• Vary widely by institution and instructor type.

• For example, teachers in special education earn between $32,000 and $53,000. Experienced fashion merchandising managers typically have bachelor's degrees.